About Me

Driven by a lifelong passion for video games and technology, I turned my enthusiasm into a profession, becoming a competitive E-sports player in 2022. Competing in national and European tournaments honed my team skills and strategic thinking, ultimately inspiring me to take my career in a new direction: web development.

I am now committed to expanding my expertise, mastering a wide array of digital skills, and embracing the world of technology as both a creator and innovator.
